Administrative Investigation into Sergeant's Exam

A recent news article has been published suggesting that the recently administered sergeant's exam was compromised.

The Internal Affairs Division is conducting an administrative investigation into some concerns raised over the recent sergeant promotional exam. The concerns are focused on the assessment center portion of the promotional process. At this time, there is no evidence any officer testing for promotion cheated. It is unknown if the final results of the promotional exam will be effected by the focus of the investigation.
